Dear [redacted]

Thank you for your request for information which the GLA received on 2 October 2019. Your request has been dealt with under the Freedom of Information Act (2000).

You asked for:

1. Can you provide information and documents on the design rights, design licensing and intellectual property of the New Routemaster?
2. Does Alexander Dennis have a licence to manufacture buses using the NRM design features such as the the glazed staircase on their product design?
3. Under your previous administration with Mayor Boris Johnson. He presented a challenge to bus manufacturers to develop and build spin-off buses using the DNA from the New Routemaster bus. Can you provide me documents and information in relation to it please?
4. Can you provide me the correspondence between the Mayor Boris Johnson and bus manufacturers on presenting a challenge to manufacturers designing their own products using New Routemaster design features?

Our response to your request is as follows:

The GLA does not hold the information you are seeking in relation to parts 1 and 2 of your request. Transport for London (TfL) is the Mayor's transport authority and is responsible for implementing the Mayor's Transport Strategy, and for the day-to-day operational running of transport services. You may wish to send a further request to TfL at foi@tfl.gov.uk.

We do hold some correspondence between Boris Johnson and manufacturers in relation to the Routemaster design competition. Please find attached.

If you have any further questions relating to this matter, please contact me, quoting the reference at the top of this letter.

Yours sincerely

Dear [redacted]

New Bus for London competition - Design Category prize winner

I am delighted to inform you that your entry has won a prize in the Design Category in the New Bus for London competition. Congratulations! Please join me on Friday 19 December from 9.15am to 11am at Altitude 360°, 29th Floor Millbank Tower, Westminster, SW1P 4QP, where the prize winners will be publicly announced and individual prizes awarded.

The competition attracted some 700 entries from around the world, of which 225 were in the Design Category. Entries in this category were received from individuals, institutions, and businesses, large and small. We have been stunned by the quality of the submissions, and the huge amount of effort and thought that has clearly gone into the work. The top entries have far exceeded our expectations and, as a result, the judging process has taken longer than we anticipated.

Enclosed are official forms which must be completed and returned to Transport for London's Events Team by Friday 5 December to assist with preparations for the event.

I do hope you can join me on 19 December to celebrate this first crucial step towards introducing a new bus, designed specifically for London, onto the Capital's streets.

Yours sincerely

Boris Johnson
Mayor of London and
Chairman of Transport for London
